PREFACE.

WHOEVER conſiders the difficulty that muſt neceſſarily attend any Collection of this nature, will, 'tis preſumed not think the EDITOR vain enough to aſſume to himſelf any higher degree of merit than that of making an offer to the PUBLIC of what he hopes will at leaſt be deem'd equivalent to the expence of their purcha e

Notwithſtanding every Name and place of Reſidence was diligently collected by a Perſonal application, there may and doubtleſs is, many errors and miſtakes, either in ſpelling of Names or, occaſional removes of Families, from one part of the City to another, during the interval of Tranſcribing, Regulating and printing the Copy; 'tis hoped every candid obſerver will not only paſs over ſuch deficiences but correct and amend them, and oblige the EDITOR with ſuch corrections and emendations, which will be thankfully acknowledged and duly inſerted in the next Edition, if he ſhould be ſo happy as to be favoured with the approbation of them, ſo far as to be encouraged to print it Annually; and alſo any alterations either by Removal or Death, that may happen amongſt Merchants, Tradeſmen, &c. or any Coaches or Carriers, &c. changing their Inns, will likewiſe, upon notice given, be carefully corrected.

It muſt be obſerved that in this Work a Number is affix'd to every houſe, for tho' they are not all Numbered, yet in moſt of the Principal Streets they are pretty general, & 'tis preſumed that its utility will more evidently appear, in a ſhort time, ſo as to induce others to follow the example, in this caſe, by a reference to this Directory, every perſon of Note will there find what Number his houſe ſhould be, according to the method he has purſued, viz. the Exchange is made the Center, and every ſtreet (a very few excepted) is begun at the end neareſt that Center, on the left hand; and perſons taking notice of this, may ſave themſelves many ſteps in their enquiries to find any individual, for, if a firſt or laſt Number is wanted, it will be found at that end neareſt the Exchange, if a middle Number, at the other end of the Street.

The EDITOR humbly preſumes the uſefulneſs of this undertaking muſt evidently appear to every Man of Buſineſs of what occupation ſoever, therefore has only to add, that he hopes it will prove of general utility to the Public, by which he ſhall think his pains fully recompenced.

A Short Historical Account of

The City of BRISTOL.

THE City of Bristol lies within the ancient limits of two Counties, Gloceſter and Somerſet, at the Confluence of the Rivers Avon and Froom, about ſeven miles above their diſcharge into the Severn Sea, whoſe high flowing tides render it a moſt commodious Port for Navigation and Commerce, and the induſtrious Inhabitants have ſo improved their Situation and enlarged it with elegant Buildings, that after London it now juſtly challenges the firſt place in the Catalogue of Engliſh Cities

The principal part or Bristol properly ſo called, was originally built on the Gloceſterſhire ſide, between the Avon and the Froom. It was fortified with a wall by William II. and a Caſtle by Robert Rufus, natural Son of Henry I. from which time it increaſed continually; on the Weſt, by the Acceſſion of the Monaſtery of St. Auguſtine, and the new Cut, or Channel of the Froom, to the Gibb-Taylor, where a more convenient Key was made, and Room gained for that elegant & ſpacious ſquare lately erected, and on the Eaſt by the Purchaſe of the Caſtle, 6 Charles I, when it was ſeparated from Gloceſterſhire, made a part of the City and afterwards demoliſhed, but its chief enlargement has been within memory, by the addition of ſo many fair Streets and ſtately Edifices on every ſide that at preſent it is near one third Part bigger than it was forty years ago.

That part on the Somerſetſhire ſide called the Redcliff, while an independant Borough was eſteemed Part of the Suburbs of Bristol, with which it had a Communication by a Ferry at St. Mary le Port: But Bristol being incorporated by Henry II, and the Charter confirmed with additional Priviliges, by John & Henry III. flouriſhed exceedingly. The Suburbs of Redcliff was made a Part of the Borough of Bristol and joyned with a Bridge, 1247, and both markets united at the High-croſs, which was then built near the Center of the four principal Streets, where it ſtood till Auguſt 1733, when, to render the Paſſage more commodious it was taken down and removed to the College-green.

But BRISTOL was no other than a Vill or Borough, and Parcel of the two Counties, till by the Charter of 47 Edward III. 'twas made a diſtinct County of itſelf, with a Sheriff of its own; and at length raiſed to the Dignity of a City, by Henry VIII. who erected a Biſhoprick, with a Dean and Chapter, conſiſting of ſix Prebendaries, upon the diſolved Monaſtry of St. Auguſtine, 1543, and exempted it from the Juriſdiction of Worceſter, Bath, and Wells.

This City, which had been divided into ſix Wards, under the Government of ſo many Aldermen (of whom the Recorder was always one) by the Charter of 15 Henry VII. was in the 23 Elizabeth 1581, divided into twelve; ſince which time the Magiſtracy has conſiſted of a Mayor, 12 Aldermen, the Recorder being one, and 30 Common Council men, out of which the Sheriffs are annually elected, and under whoſe wiſe and prudent Adminiſtration it flouriſhes & improves ſtill more and more.

It contains, beſides the Cathedral and the Gaunts, or Mayors Chapel, Sixteen Pariſh Churches, & ſends two Members to Parliament. It gives the Honour of an Earldom to the extinct Family of the Digbys, which Title is at preſent enjoyed by the Noble Family of the Harveys.

The Hotwell, a little diſtance from the City, is a place of great reſort. In St. Vincent's rock, near the river Avon, tranſparent ſtones are found known by the name of Briſtol ſtones. They have 2 great Fairs, for moſt kind of wares and merchandizes, ſuch as Woollen and Linen Cloths, Stockings, Carpeting, Milliner and Haberdaſhery, Buckinghamſhire Lace, Birmingham, Sheffield, Wolverhampton, and Walſall Goods, Leather, Cards, Horſes, Cattle, and a great variety of other Articles. One Fair begins the 14th of March, continues 9 Days, and is held in Temple-ſtreet; the other begins the 1ſt of September, continues the ſame number of Days, in & about St. James-church-yard; they have alſo another on January 25th for moſt ſorts of Goods, and has a market, on Wedneſday, Friday, and Saturday. It is one hundred & 17 Miles Weſt of London. Long. 2. 40. W. Lat. 51. 27. N.

BRISTOL WATERS.

Theſe waters are the fourth in degree amongſt the waters which are eſteemed warm. The waters of Bath are the firſt, Buxton the ſecond, and Matlock the third. Bath waters are beneficial when the ſecretions from the blood are diminiſhed; Briſtol when too much increaſed; both attenuate powerfully; Briſtol incraſſates: Bath is ſpirituous, and helps defects; Briſtol is more cooling, & ſuppreſſes plenitude, with its conſequences, inflamations & hæmorrhages. If we may judge of the contents of Briſtol waters, from their effects, which are exceedingly deterſive and healing, they partake chiefly of chalk, lapis calcarius, & calaminaris, the virtues of which are too dry to cleanſe; they fill ulcers with fleſh, & cicatrize them.

But whatever the ſubſtances are that impregnate them, it is plain they are very ſubtile, and that there is but little of a terreſtrial part in them, from their ſpecific lightneſs above other waters; yet when we conſider how agreable to ſight, ſmell, and taſte; how clear, pure, & ſoft they are; their gentle degree of heat ſo adapted to ſundry diſeaſes, it muſt be concluded that thoſe waters imbibe ſome ſalutary particles in their paſſage through the earth, and from the many cures yearly wrought by them, that they have an undoubted title to a place in the firſt claſs of medicinal waters.

The diſeaſes in which Briſtol waters are properly preſcribed, are internal hæmorrhages, and inflammations, blood ſpitting, dyſentery, and immoderate flux of the menſes, purulent ulcers of the viſcera: hence in conſumptions, the dropſy, ſcurvy with heat, ſtone, gravel, ſtranguary; the habitable gout, ſcorbutic rheumatiſm, diabetes, ſlow fevers, atrophy, venereal diſeaſe, cancer, gleets in both ſexes, king's evil, &c. in all theſe diſorders, Bath waters are not only improper, but hurtful. In ſhort Bath water ſeems to be adapted to the maladies of the ſtomach, guts, and nerves; Briſtol to thoſe of the lungs, kidneys, and bladder: again, Bath waters are at variance with a milk courſe; & the Briſtol can never be judiciouſly directed, but when they may be joined with reaſon & ſucceſs. The Briſtol waters are taken medicinally only during the hot months, as from April to September.

Directions

Directions for TRAVELLERS &c. when to paſs over at AUST and NEW PASSAGES, Between ENGLAND and WALES.

THE paſſage over this great river (Severn) is of vaſt importance to thoſe who want to travel between England and Wales; and people who are unacquainted with the hours of paſſing, very often loſe a great deal of time and buſineſs, in waiting on both ſides for paſſing: Therefore obſerve, that the winds for paſſing are but two ſorts, viz. all the winds that are ſoutherly and weſterly, are called the winds below, and thoſe northerly the winds above; and when wind and tide go both one way, there is no paſſing, except at the going out of the tide at Auſt; when at three quarters ebb you may paſs: But when the wind is above, all paſſing muſt be on flood, or coming in of the tide, and then you have five hours good paſſing: When the wind is below, all paſſing muſt be on the ebb or going out of the tide, and then you have ſeven hours good paſſing. By finding the moon's age, by which all tides are governed, you may, by the following Table, know what hour to paſs every day in the year, and ſo order your journey accordingly.

Time of paſſing, Wind above.

Moon's Age. Days.		H. M.		H. M.
1	16 from	02 00	to	07 00
2	17	02 48		07 48
3	18	03 36		08 36
4	19	04 24		09 24
5	20	05 12		10 12
6	21	06 00		01 00
7	22	06 48		11 48
8	23	07 36		12 36
9	24	08 24		01 24
10	25	09 12		02 12
11	26	10 00		03 00
12	27	10 48		03 48
13	28	11 56		04 56
14	29	12 24		05 24
15	30	01 12		06 12

Time of paſſing, Wind below.

Moon's Age. Days.		H. M.		H. M.

15	30	06 12		01 12

For example, if the moon be one or ſixteen days old, (which is the day of the change or full) the wind above, you may paſs from two to ſeven; wind below, from ſeven to two. If the moon be five, or twenty days old, the wind above, you may paſs from twelve minutes after ten; wind below, from twelve minutes after ten, to twelve minutes after five.

 'Tis computed that the difference in paſſing at Auſt and the New-Paſſage, varies but one hour, viz. when the tide is coming in, the wind above, then the new paſſes an hour before Auſt: Tide going out, wind below, then Auſt an hour before the new: So that, obſerving the difference, the ſame table ſerves for both paſſages.

Note, The boats begin to paſs and repaſs, about half an hour before high water.

The Prices of Goods, Cattle, and Paſſengers, going over at both Paſſages.

A coach, with ſix horſes, 16s.—Ditto, with four horſes, 14s.—Ditto with two horſes, 12s.—A man, woman, or child, 4d. each.—A man and horſe, 1s.—A ſingle horſe, 8d.—Beaſts, 4d. each.—Sheep, 2s. a ſcore. Hogs, 2s. 6d. ditto.
